Character Relationships

What is it? Key points!

Character relationships are in books and films and can help us know who is connected to who.

It's the glue that holds the story together. Stories aren't interesting if its just one person.

Character relationships are in books and films and can either be positive or negative (good or bad).

Homework Task:

Write a narrative with two more characters in it. Before you begin your narrative, create character profiles of the characters in your story to better plan. Use some of the words from the word list below.

Use more paper to write more if you go over the amount below.

Word List:

humorous, friendly, intelligent, motivated, inspirational, leader, friendly, kind, caring, fair, friends, cousins, neighbours, vicious, angry, self-absorbed, selfish, temper issue, bad temperament, b ad attitude, sneaky, dangerous, obnoxious, personality, divided, favoured,